operations should be

Disputed healthcare payments cost the industry billions of dollars every year

At Burgess® we're challenging the status quo by harnessing technology to design bold, new solutions that help insurers and ACOs pay providers with confidence and make smarter business decisions.

Solving this piece unlocks resources and creates new possibilities. Together, we can shift the whole healthcare system forward.

Payment Accountability starts here

Payment Accountability™ is our vision and a new standard of financial transparency in payment operations to improve your health plan's bottom line and the relationships in your network.

It ensures payers deliver accurate, defensible payments to providers in a single pass with precise audit trails and business intelligence tools that help payers model and forecast scenarios with total confidence.
